Question 4

Read the passage given below and answer the questions (a), (b) and (c) that follow:

- (1) My job as the District Veterinarian in Darrowby, Yorkshire has thrown up some interesting moments. I was driving up to Pawson's sheep farm one morning, when I saw this rare sight.
- (2) I suppose it isn't unusual to see a man pushing a pram in a town, but on a lonely moorland road this scene merits a second glance. Especially when the pram contains a large gray dog. I drew up beside them and stopped. 5
- (3) I looked at the pram, ancient and rusty, and at the big animal sitting upright inside it. He was a cross-bred greyhound, and he gazed back at me with unruffled dignity. I couldn't help but admire his healthy and happy disposition.
- (4) "Nice dog," I said. 10
- (5) "Aye, that's Jake." The man smiled, introducing himself as Roddy.
- (6) That same evening, about eight o'clock, the doorbell rang. I answered it and found Roddy on the front doorstep. Behind him, stood the ubiquitous pram. One look at the prone dog warned me that something was terribly wrong.
- (7) I threw the door wide open. "Bring him in." 15
- (8) I grabbed the animal round the middle and we lifted him onto the table. I watched in disbelief as the huge form lay there. There was no fight for breath, he was unconscious. His pulse was rapid and feeble, yet he didn't breathe.
- (9) Understanding the symptoms, I said, "Roddy, he is choking. I'm going to have a look at his throat." 20
- (10) I pushed Jake's jaws apart, depressed his tongue with a forefinger, and shone my torch into the depths. He was the kind of good-natured dog who offered no resistance as I prodded around. I shall always be thankful that at that very instant the dog coughed, opening up the cartilages of the larynx and giving me a glimpse of the cause of all the trouble. There, beyond the drooping epiglottis, I saw for a fleeting moment a smooth round object no bigger than a pea. 25
- (11) "I think it's a pebble," I gasped. "Right inside his larynx. I'll have to get it out."
- (12) I seized a pair of scissors and clipped away the hair from the ventral surface of the larynx. I dared not use a general anesthetic, and therefore I infiltrated the area with local before swabbing with antiseptic. 30
- (13) "Hold his head steady," I said hoarsely, and gripped a scalpel. I cut down through skin, fascia, and the thin layers of the muscle until the ventral surface of the larynx was revealed.

- (14) And there it was. A pebble right enough—gray and glistening and tiny, but big enough to kill. 35
- (15) I had to fish it out quickly and cleanly without pushing it into the trachea. I leaned back and rummaged in the tray until I found some broad-bladed forceps, then I poised them over the wound. Great surgeons' hands, I felt sure, didn't shake like this.
- (16) I clenched my teeth, introduced the forceps, and my hand magically steadied as I 40 clamped them over the pebble.
- (17) I didn't breathe at all as I bore the shining little object slowly and tenderly through the opening and dropped it with a gentle rat-tat on the table.
- (18) "Is that it?" asked Roddy, almost in a whisper.
- (19) "That's it." I reached for a needle and suture silk. "All is well now." 45
- (20) The stitching took only a few minutes and by the end of it, Jake was bright-eyed and alert, paws shifting impatiently, ready for anything.
- (21) He seemed to know his troubles were over.
