SECTION - A

1. Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given below in your own words : 4 × 3 = 12

Much of the information we have today about Chimpanzees comes from the ground breaking, long-term research of the great conservationist, Jane Goodall.

Jane Goodall was born in London, England, on April 3, 1934. On her second birthday, her father gave her a toy Chimpanzee named Jubilee. From an early age, Jane was fascinated by animals and animal stories. By the age of 10, she was talking about going to Africa to live among the animals there. At the time, in the early 1940, this was a radical idea because women did not go to Africa by themselves.

Once in Kenya, she met Dr. Louis Leakey, palaeontologist and anthropologist. He was impressed with her thorough knowledge of Africa and its wildlife, and hired her to assist him and his wife on a fossil-hunting expedition to Olduvai Gorge. Dr. Leakey soon realized that Jane was the perfect person to complete a study he had been planning for some time. They began a study of a group of Chimpanzees who were living on the shores of Lake Tanganyika in Kenya. Jane faced many challenges as she began her work. For the first time the Chimpanzees did not accept her but little by little she was able to enter their world.

Questions :

- i) Where has much of the information about Chimpanzees come from ?
- ii) What gift did she get on her second birthday and from whom ?
- iii) What work did she do under Dr. Louis K. Leakey ? What was her aim ?
- iv) Find a word in the passage which means 'allured'.

2. Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given below in your own words : 4 × 2 = 8

For many people who live in cities, parks are an important part of the landscape. They provide a place for people to relax and play sports, as well as a refuge from the often harsh environment of a city. What people often overlook is that parks also provide considerable environmental benefits.

One benefit of parks is that plants absorb carbon dioxide — a key pollutant — and emit oxygen which humans need to breathe. According to one study, an acre of trees can absorb the same amount of carbon dioxide that a typical car emits in 11,000 miles of driving. Parks also make cities cooler. Scientists have long noted what it called the Urban Heat Island Effect : building materials such as metal, concrete and asphalt, absorb much more of the sun's heat and release it much more quickly than organic surfaces like trees and grass. Because city landscapes contain so much of these building materials, cities are usually warmer than the surrounding rural areas. Parks and other green spaces help to mitigate the Urban Heat Island Effect.

Questions :

- i) What benefits do parks provide city dwellers ?
- ii) Explain one scientific benefit of parks.
- iii) What is the Heat Island Effect ?
- iv) Find the word in the passage which means the same as 'to take in'.

11. Read the extract carefully and answer the following questions :

5 × 1 = 5

"Once upon a time there was an old woman. Blind but wise." Or an old man? A guru, perhaps, soothing restless children. I have heard this story, or one exactly like it, in the lore of several cultures.

"Once upon a time there was an old woman. Blind. Wise."

In the version I know, the woman is the daughter of slaves, black, American, and lives alone in a small house outside of town. Her reputation for wisdom is without peer and without question. Among her people, she is both the law

Speaking as her son, however, I would add that I personally believe that by her own dedication and personal sacrifice she has come to be a worthy symbol through whom the plight of all the people of Burma may be recognised. And no one must underestimate the plight. The plight of those in the countryside and towns, living in poverty and destitution, those in prison battered and tortured ; the plight of the young people, the hope of Burma, dying of malaria in the jungles to which they have fled ; that of the Buddhist monks, beaten and dishonoured, nor should be forget the many senior and highly respected leaders besides my mother who are all incarcerated. It is on their behalf that I think you, from my heart, for this supreme honour. The Burmese people can today hold their heads a little higher in the knowledge that in this far distant land their suffering has been heard and heeded.

Questions :

- i) Whose own dedication and personal sacrifice are expressed here ?
- ii) Whose plight is referred to here ?
- iii) What does the speaker say about the young people of Burma ?
- iv) Why can the Burmese people hold their heads a little higher ?
