Descriptive Questions

1. Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow in your own words:-

Childhood is a time when there are few responsibilities to make life difficult. If a child has good parents, he is fed, looked after and loved, whatever he may do. It is improbable that he will ever again in his life be given so much without having to do anything in return. In addition, life is always presenting new things to the child. A child finds pleasure in playing in the rain or in the snow. His first visit to seaside is a marvelous adventure. But a child has his pains; he is not free to do what he wishes to; he is continually being told not to do things or being punished. His life, therefore, is not perfectly happy.

- (i) How is childhood? [1]
(ii) What is the benefit of having good parents? [2]
(iii) What are the rewards of childhood? [2]
(iv) Why is the life of a child not perfectly happy? [2]

OR

When most of us think of forests, we think of trees. True, trees are the most prominent form of life in a forest. But there is much more to a forest than the eye can see. Each forest is a growing, changing community made up of different plants and animals that interact with each other in a variety of ways. Associated with trees are thousands of other kinds of plants – shrubs, Vines, leaves, herbs and ferns. These use trees for support, for shade and for moisture to grow.

Questions:-

- (i) Which is the most prominent form of life in a forest? [1]
(ii) What is a forest made up of? [2]
(iii) Who all are associated with trees and for what? [2]
(iv) Make sentences with : Community , Forest [2]

2. Direction:- Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow in your own words:-

Without water no creature can survive. In desert regions the greatest threat to life is drying up. But many creatures are able to make use of the little water that exists in arid areas. One of nature's masterpieces among creatures equipped to cope with desert life is the hardy Camel. Stories range to desert lands far and wide about feats of remarkable endurance of Camels. It is said that Camels can cover a distance of about 800 miles in eight days through continuous travel without taking a single drop of water. The popular belief that Camels store water in the humps is misleading in a way; water is indeed stored there but in the form of fat.

- (i) What is the greatest threat to life in desert regions? [1]
- (ii) Why is the Camel considered as a masterpiece in deserts? [2]
- (iii) What type of stories range far and wide about Camels? [2]
- (iv) Describe the reality about the storage of water by Camels. [2]

One Saturday, Ramayana was offering prayers to the lord when he called his son and told him to get some plantains for a rupee. The boy readily ran out and purchased the plantains, but on the way back, he saw another boy with his mother. They were very hungry. The young boy felt sorry for the sufferers. He gave the bananas to the mother and her son and relieved them of their hunger. The two expressed their gratitude in many different ways. The young boy went home empty – handed and told the reason of not bringing the plantains. The father was very happy with his son.

Questions:-

- (i) What did the father tell his son to do? [1]
- (ii) What did the son see on his way back home? [2]
- (iii) What did the boy do? [2]
- (iv) Make sentences with: Hungry, Gratitude. [2]

3. Direction: - Read the given poem carefully and answer the questions that follow in your own words.

What is a house?
It's brick and stone
and wood that's hard,
Some window glass
and perhaps a yard.
It's eaves and chimneys
and tile floors
and stucco and roof
and lots of doors.
What is a home?
It's loving and family
and doing for others.
It's brothers and sisters
and fathers and mothers.
It's unselfish acts
and kindly sharing
and showing your loved ones
you're always caring.

- (i) Describe a house in your own words. [2]
(ii) Define a home as described in the poem. [2]
(iii) What do you like – a house or a home? Why? [2]
