My Favourite Teacher

"Teaching Is A Profession That Teaches All the Profession."

My favourite teacher is "Mrs. Sarita Sharma", the principal of our school "Adarsh Vidya Mandir, Churu". She teaches us English. She teaches us prose paragraphwise. She evaluates the learning of the students at the end. She teaches us poetries in rhythmic manner. She recites, not reads. She always helps the weak students. She encourages us. She is very humble and kind. She is very punctuate. She always follows simple living and high thinking. She is my ideal. I respect her very much.

23. Text → My courage ----- from pain.
(i)

Reference → These lines have been taken from the poem "My Good Right Hand" composed by a very famous Scottish poet "Charles Mackay."

Context → In these lines the poet wants to tell us when nobody helped him in his poverty, his courage and hard work saved him from adversity.

Explanation → In these lines the poet wants to tell us that none of his friends helped him in his need. He was disappointed but then he regained his courage and will power and decided to change his lot with hard labour. He cheerfully did hard work with his hands by having full faith in God's grace. The hard work of the poet helped him to come out of sorrow and saved him from painful condition. This helped him to feed and clothe himself many times. In this way he came out of poverty and grew prosperous.
